

Changing Facade of Education and Life: Covid-19 Pandemic

Vijay Pal Tewari*

Abstract

The outbreak of novel corona virus has created quite chaotic situation globally. The misconception and myths have further aggravated mental distress and fear among the human being. The outbreak of pandemic has invited many disarrays though created many opportunities including self-introspection for peaceful coexistence of all creatures. The traditional system of teaching and learning is under metamorphosed state as the physical classes being shut in toto consequently galvanised to adapt techno-based teaching and learning. Based upon practical implications due to horrific consequences of series of lockdowns some key takeaways are consolidated in the present paper which could be not only helpful to prepare a contingency plan by the administration for future but also may work as a panacea for entire population of the country to deal with such situation.

Key words: Education, life, Covid-19
